Power Steering on the Mopar A-Body Can be a Challenge with the Gen III Hemi Swap. This steel hardline kit provides extra Header Heat Protection, and Moves the Power Steering Flexible Lines Connections to a More Accessible Location.

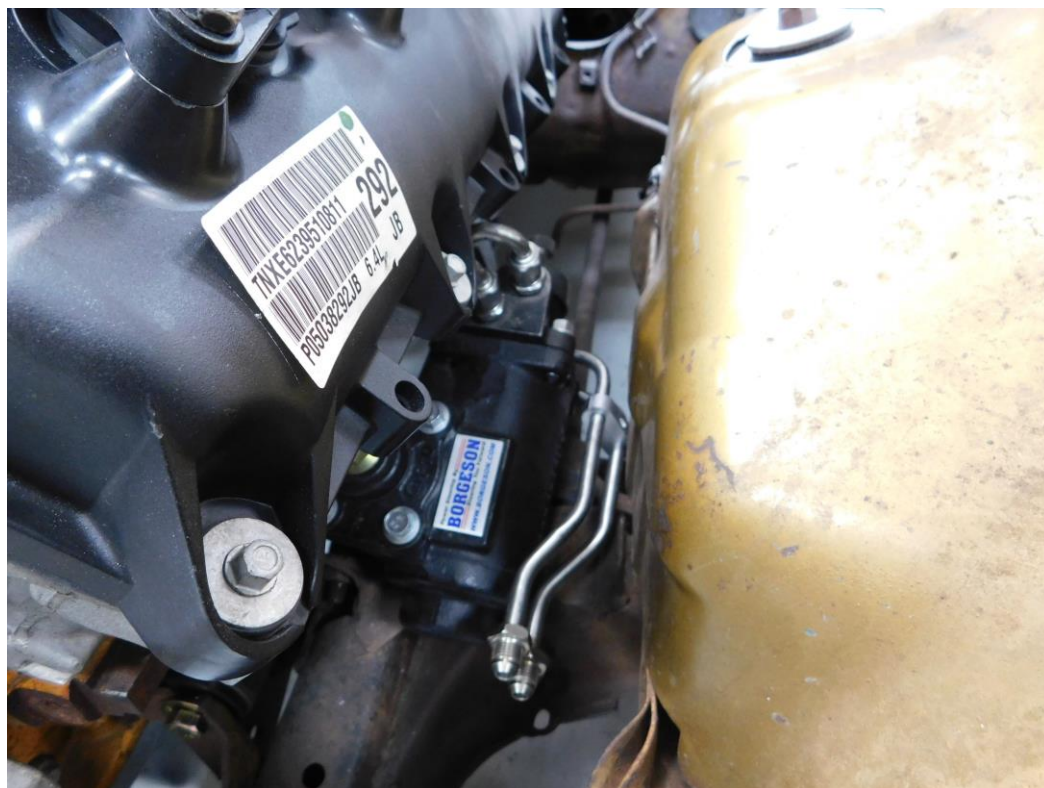

Features/Benefits:

- Mopar A-Body Power Steering Hardline Kit Provides Protection from Header Heat and Moves the Connections to a More Accessible Location
- Requires the Use of BH23104 Headers and Borgeson Power Steering Box 800126 or 800127
- Includes Two Steel Hardlines with Nickel Plated Finish & Billet Aluminum Line Separator
- The Tube Nuts on Each Line Connect to the Steering Box & the AN -6 Male Flares Connect to the Flexible Power Steering Hoses
- Ideal for Use with Earls Power Steering Hose & Hose Ends

The headers are really close to the power steering lines on the Mopar A-Body Gen III Hemi Swap. These metal power steering hardlines provide extra protection from header heat & must be used with the Borgeson power steering box 800126 or 800127 and Hooker Blackheart swap headers BH23104.

The factory power steering box is too large to fit with a Gen III Hemi Swap, so we developed this system to allow power steering. The power steering system uses the slimmer Borgeson steering box, headers BH23104, and this hardline set 198-231. Earl's power steering hose and hose ends are recommended for the flexible power steering hoses.
